FROM THE CHAIRMAN

A young man recently entered the board room in 2019 and introduced himself saying, ‘Do you remember me?’ I replied, “Jog my memory please”. He continued, “In 2017, you filled up at the garage I had worked at for 10 years. You told me that I was still young and should advance my career options by studying”.

Unfortunately the company he worked for did not offer leave on Saturdays. I felt moved to assist him and offered him a bursary at SA Maritime School. He completed our Certificate in International Trade and then Freight Handling part-time in his second year. He then landed a learnership with Bulk Connections and told me “This has truly changed my life!”.

We are in the business of changing lives, and nothing excites me more than seeing a young person reach new heights to explore their potential!

A letter from a 2023/24

They are in demand in the workplace, and opportunity finds them!

Anchen Jankowitz

During my former employment, I had the opportunity to participate in a Group Remote offering provided by SA Maritime and my former employer. Being based in Namibia, SA Maritime presented the course to a group of individuals remotely with one onsite class as well.

The wealth of information provided and presented to our group was immeasurable. Not only did it broaden our understanding of the programme, but encouraged inhouse discussions to assure the ultimate solution was provided to our customers whilst addressing risk.

Classes were timeously done as planned and very well presented by our tutor Mr Emmanuel Jin. Emmanuel was open to communication and encouraged not only the theoretical prescribed course material but continuously engaged in many discussions and questions which the group had.

I thoroughly enjoyed the course and it really broadened my knowledge of shipping.

Best Regards

Our campuses are situated in key maritime precincts in Durban and Cape Town

Our campuses are well-positioned for easy access for all learners. They are in the hub of both Durban and Cape Town.

The Rope Shed is located at 6 Timeball Boulevard, Signal Road, The Point, Durban. Established in the 19th century, it is a well-preserved building and a relic from the days of sailing ships when rope replacements were constantly needed. It is here in Durban that learners are first introduced to the maritime culture.

31 Victoria Road, Woodstock, Cape Town. Located near the Castle of Good Hope, the campus is in the centre of the urban renewal area of Woodstock. The rejuvenation of old buildings and the revitalisation of accommodation, shops, and restaurants, has led to Woodstock being firmly back on the map. The building was formerly a bank stronghold and is perfectly engineered to ensure a valuable fortress for our learners.

An Interview with Thabile Nyawose on the CargoWise Workshop

At SA Maritime School and Transport College, we are committed to equipping professionals with the skills and knowledge they need to excel in the fast-paced maritime and logistics industry. We recently sat down with Thabile Nyawose, Managing Director of Lime and Soda Maritime Group, to discuss her experience with our CargoWise Workshop and how it has impacted her career and business.

Can you tell us about your background in the maritime industry?

I studied Maritime Studies at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, and throughout my career, I realized that while I had theoretical knowledge, I needed more practical experience and training to confidently navigate industry challenges.

What led you to SA Maritime School and Transport College?

I was looking for a program that would bridge my knowledge gap and provide hands-on experience. That's when I came across the CargoWise Workshop at SA Maritime School and Transport College. I decided to enroll along with two of my team members to strengthen our company's capabilities.

How was your experience with the CargoWise Workshop?

The training lasted three days and was extremely insightful. It heightened my knowledge and boosted my confidence in using the CargoWise system. The practical focus of the workshop was exactly what I needed to enhance my understanding of logistics and customs processes.

Would you recommend the CargoWise Workshop to others?

Absolutely! The qualifications are internationally recognized, the content is aligned with business needs, and it keeps up with the fast-moving maritime and logistics industry. Additionally, it helps with compliance and provides practical knowledge that I personally needed for my company.

What aspects of the workshop did you find most beneficial?

The workshop covered essential areas such as:

- Overview of Customs
- Introduction to the CargoWise System
- Process of Shipment
- Customs Declaration

The training also included study material and a certificate of attendance, which is valuable for professional credibility.

Who was your facilitator, and how did they impact your learning experience?

My facilitator was Ms. Evelyn Naidoo, and she played a crucial role in making the workshop engaging and practical. Her expertise helped me better understand the software system, making it easier to apply in a real-world business setting.

How do you expect this training to impact your company?

The knowledge and skills gained will positively impact on our operations, making us more efficient and compliant. It has already improved our practical application for CargoWise, and I'm confident it will drive business growth.

If you could change anything about the workshop, what would it be?

I only wish the training was longer! There is so much to learn, and an extended program would allow for even deeper engagement with the system.

Join the CargoWise Workshop and elevate your maritime and logistics expertise!
